Just set your keyboard to whatever Cyrillic language you are using: +System Preferences > Personal > International > Russian should already be in the list > Move it to the top of the list+ If you need any other keyboards: +International > Languages > Edit List... > check the languages you want+ For more quality Cyrillic fonts, any of the major font publishers' Open Type (off) collections will do, with Parachute Fonts particularly specialising in Cyrillic with superb designs.. That's one reason there are multiple font locations Another reason is that the system is very particular about having its own, never-changing set of fonts.

Still another reason is that, in some environments, client workstations are booting directly off of a Mac OS X server, and resources such as fonts are located on the server.. Fonts are an important element of any document Whether you™re working on an advertisement, a newsletter, a book layout, or an invitation, the right.. Razamanaz You don't need any specific Cyrillic fonts for Pages, virtually all OSX fonts have Cyrillic.
